Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherrybark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE VATICAN PALACE.

It has long been known that some parts of the Vatican in Rome are unsafe; but it has just been discovered that the palace is practically falling to pieces. Even the corner where the Pope's apartment is situated needs strengthening, and the pontifi is moving out. The walls, which are cracked, bulging and leaning outward, will be temporarily strengthened immediately. To make the whole building safe will require more than $100,000.

For about 400 years the Vatican Palace has been the official residence of the popes. It is situated on the Mons Vaticanus, one of the seven hills of Rome, in the northwestern part of the city. Previously the official residence was the Lateran Palace. This was found in such a bad condition by Pope Gregory XI. (1370-'78) that he moved his place of abode to the Vatican.

The papal palace adjoins the basilica of St. Peter and is a little less than half a mile from the castle of Sant' Angelo, with which it communicates by a covered gallery built by Pope John XXIII. early in the fifteenth century.

The palace, one of the most magnificent in the world, has grown up by degrees, and consequently exhibits a great want of architectural harmony. There was a palace attached to St. Peter's certainly in the time of Charlemagne, and probably before the reign of Constantine.

It was rebuilt by Innocent III. (1198-1216) and enlarged by Nicholas III (1277-81), but did not become the permanent residence of the popes until 1337. Little of the present edifice is older than the time of Nicholas V. (1447).

The renovation of the old place, which he commenced, was completed by Alexander V. (1492-1503), after whom that part of the building is now called the Appartmento Borgia.

The famous Sistine Chapel was added by Sixtus IV in 1474, and the Pauline Chapel by Paul III. in 1534. Innocent VIII. (1484-92) constructed the Belvedere Villa a short distance from the palace, and Julius II. (1503-13) connected it with the Vatican by means of the celebrated loggie and a terraced court. To Julius II. is also due the foundation of the museum. Pius VII. constructed the braccio nuovo for sculptures; Gregory XVI. added the Etruscan Museum, and Pius IX. added a fourth side to the cortile di San Damaso.

The portion of the Vatican which is now the ordinary residence of the popes lies on the east of the loggie and was built chiefly by Sixtus V. (1585-00) and Clement VIII. (1592-1605). The whole palace, which is rather a collection of separate buildings than one regular edifice, occupies a space of 1,151x767 feet, and has 200 stair cases, 20 courts and 4,422 rooms.

The scala regia, or great staircase, is a masterpiece of Bernini, and chiefly remarkable for its perspective. It leads to the Sala Regia, built by Antonia di Sangallo as an audience hall for the reception of ambassadors, and decorated with frescoes by Vasari, Marco da Siena, Taddeo and Federigo Zucchero, Giuseppe Porta and others.

On November 1, 1903, a fire occurred in that part of the Vatican containing the Hall of Inscriptions, where the Pope gives his audiences, and which adjoins the gallery of pictures. While the damage was considerable, no lives were lost.

Duel In Paris.

The scene of tumultuous disorder which marked the enactment yesterday, in Paris, of the law restoring Alfred Dreyfus to the army was followed by a bloody duel last night, in which Under Secretary of State Sarrant was seriously wounded by the sword of M. Pugliesi-Conti.

The duel assumed the aspect of a veritable combat between the government and the opposition, as M. Sarraut's seconds were Ministers Clemenceau and Thompson, while M. Pugliesi-Conti's were M. Millevoye and Gen. Jacquet, who were drawn from the elements which bitterly resist the government's rehabilitation of Dreyfus.

The meeting followed a fight on the floor of the Chamber of Deputies, in which M. Sarraut sprang from beside Minister of the Interior Clemenceau, sitting on the ministerial benches on M. Pugliesi-Conti, who had been heaping denunciation on the members of the government as scoundrels, Sarraut struck Pugliesi-Conti a stunning blow in the face. A scene of the wildcat uproar ensued, compelling the suspension of the session.

It was after the close of the session that the duel occurred. Late reports show that M. Sarraut is suffering from a deep wound in the right breast, penetrating the lung. While the wound is considered to be serious it is not necessarily fatal.

SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 14, 1906.

THE armor plate trust won out, hands down, yesterday, in its fight for a part of the $2,500,000 contract to furnish armor plate for the new battleships South Carolina and Michigan. Under the decision of Secretary Bonaparte, having the approval, if not actually directed by President Roosevelt, the Bethlehem and Carnegie Companies are each awarded one-fourth of the work, the Midvale Steel Company, of Philadelphia, getting the other half. The Carnegie and Bethlehem companies, however, share in the contract only upon condition that they cut their price to $345 per ton, which was the price asked by the Midvale, the lowest bidder. The announcement of Mr. Bonaparte caused no great surprise, the belief being general that even he, with all his boasted courage and independence, would scarcely dare to throw down the steel trust completely. This belief became almost a certainty when it was known that Oyster Bay was interesting itself in favor of the Carnegie and Bethlehem concerns. The Midvale company, the lowest bidder, was badly treated for it should have been given the whole contract. The main argument of the steel trust officials was that the two plants, Carnegie and Bethlehem, would have to close down unless they were awarded a share of the work, and that hundreds of working men, with dependent families, would suffer. The press of the country had considerable fun over this remarkable argument, remarkable as coming from the billion-dollar steel corporation, but Secretary Bonaparte, in a statement issued yesterday afternoon, says he took the argument seriously, and that this reason, and the further one that it would be bad policy to allow the supplying of armor plate for the government to be controlled by one concern, induced him to divide the contract so that the armor for one vessel should be supplied by the independent corporation, and that for the other be furnished by the two companies composing the trust. In commenting on the award of the contract the Philadelphia Record says:

It is difficult to discover the rationale of the decision to divide the armor-plate contracts between the Midvale Steel Company and the Homestead-Bethlehem double back-action combine. The government invited bids for the plate, and the presumption arising from such invitation was that the lowest bidder would get the award. Of course, this presumption was subject to the qualifications that the low bidder's ability to produce armor of the quality required should not be in doubt and that he could comply with the other specifications as to time of delivery, etc. As to the first condition there was no room for doubt; Midvale ship armor has been used by the government and has withstood the severest tests. Touching the adequacy of the Midvale Company's plant nothing need be said except that the concern has not defaulted in the making of deliveries within the time promised under previous contracts and is prepared to put up a substantial sum of money as a forfeit in case of failure. It has been claimed by the trust that the great expense of putting up the plants at Bethlehem and Homestead was incurred under an implied agreement that the government (which was the only probable employer) would keep them fully occupied; but by implication the trust on its part undertook to supply the armor at a responsible price. For many years the trust exploited its practical monopoly by extorting the exorbitant price of $500 or more a ton for its products. Only by the threat of Congress to erect a government armor plate shop unless the material could be obtained in the market at $400 influenced the trust to reduce its price to approximately the figure named. Now comes a competitor, who, without preconcertion, asking no favors and on his own risk, put up a plant; and, after perfecting its processes and becoming satisfied that it could supply armor of the quality used in the naval service, the competing concern from the out start underbids the trust by 30 per cent or more. If there be profit enough in the business to warrant the taking of all these chances what regard should be shown for the whinings of the trust? But to leave the trust bare of contracts would be to compel it to close its shops; its skilled workingmen would become scattered, and an industry would be destroyed! This argument seems to have prevailed with the administration. Stripped of the subterfuge that quicker deliveries could be secured by dividing the contracts, Secretary Bonaparte's excuse for doing so is a mere expression of paternal concern for the future of the trust. One may be permitted to doubt, however, that the trust's plants would be dismantled if it should get no government pap for a little while to come; and a period of reflection on the enormity of monopolistic extortion might have proved a wholesome discipline for it. When bids should next be advertised for the trust might have been found in a mood for honest competition. In this way the interests of the government would have been better served than they have been by the paternalistic solicitude of the administration for this monstrous offspring of protectionism. One is forced to the conclusion that while the administration detests trusts in the abstract it is wonderfully fond of them in the concrete.

THE formation of the American farm products company by some of the leading financiers of the country is announced at New York, with $20,000,000 capital. The purpose is to control all American dairy products, chickens and eggs. This is probably to be the biggest monopoly ever established if the plan of the projectors is carried out. While the financial headquarters are to be at New York, the general offices will be located at Chicago. It is asserted by those in control that this trust will bring about an increased and uniform price to the producer, a diminished price to the consumer and greatly improve both the quality of products and the method of distribution. This statement bears "fraud" upon its face. Trusts are not out for their health nor to benefit either the producer or the consumer. Their own sweet selves are what the trusts are looking after.

SECRETARY of Agriculture Wilson announces his purpose to enforce thoroughly the new meat inspection law, and says he will go personally to Chicago to organize the inspection force in that city. He says every packing house will have to satisfy him before he will pass it as sanitary, and that the civil service commission already has a number of inspectors selected. Supervision and inspection will be extended "from the pasture to the package," and the government stamp upon the can will be "a guarantee not only of the healthfulness of the animal, but also that the product is prepared in sanitary surroundings and with the addition of no deleterious chemical or preservative." Should Secretary Wilson hold fast to this determination and thus bring about a revolution in the meat packing trade he will be forgiven for many of his sins of omission.

IN FRANCE the manufacture of matches is a government monopoly. As a result the cost of matches is excessive and the quality poor. The government makes a round profit which goes into the treasury, and there is, therefore, no particular grumbling; but, says the Philadelphia Record, the operation serves to show the unwisdom of State monopoly.

THE Panama Canal Commission is now buying supplies in the highest market as directed by the republican Congress.

From Washington.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, July 14.

A letter from Speaker Cannon, who is resting at his home in Danville, Illinois, indicates that he is already yearning for the activity of the coming canvass. He has written to Washington for the Congressional Record and for copies of the statistical abstracts, a certain indication that he is ready to plunge into the work cut out for him. The republican congressional committee has not yet agreed upon the details of the tour he is to take this fall. Speaker Cannon, in his speeches, will not ignore the ultimatum that has been delivered to him by President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor. Wherever republican candidates for Congress are being opposed by federation leaders, Mr. Cannon will raise the country cry of "bossism," pointing to President Gompers as the boss and his representatives as men ready to carry out his bequest without any particular personal convictions on the subject.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has deposited between $4,000,000 and $4,500,000 government money in about twenty-five national banks in various parts of the country. He has notified the banks receiving these deposits they will be required to give United States government bonds as security by next Wednesday. At the Treasury Department it is thought this will have the immediate effect of improving the market price of the outstanding 2 per cent. consols, which yesterday rose three-fourths of a point.

Food riots have broken out among the natives in China on account of the partial failure of the rice crop and the high prices at which this staple article of food is being held. The Chinese are turning to foreign foods for relief.

President Roosevelt has tendered his good offices to President Diaz, of Mexico, to settle the squabble between Salvador and Guatemala, and it is possible that Sagamore Hill will again figure as an international altar of peace. Acting under orders from the President, the State Department yesterday wired President Diaz that the United States stood ready to co-operate with him in settling the differences of the two South American States.

According to the judgment of the clerk of the United States Supreme Court, ex-Senator Burton, of Kansas, will have until the 21st of this month to present his petition for a rehearing of the case which recently terminated in the approval of his conviction in the courts below. The court granted him 60 days in which to submit the plea, and the term in question expires on the 21st. If his attorneys should neglect to submit the motion within that time, the mandate would go forth, on request of the government, as this step could be taken even though the court is not in session. If the motion for rehearing is filed in the clerk's office, the mandate will not go forth at this time, but will be held until the court shall have had time to consider the merits of the proposition.

The beef trust lost in the month of June $328,064 in the export of canned beef alone as compared with June of 1905, according to statistics given out today by the Department of Commerce and Labor. This was the month when the agitation against unsanitary conditions in the Chicago packing houses reached its climax. The number of pounds of canned beef exported last month was 2,977,969, as comparep with 6,810,553 in June a year ago. Exportations of hams also fell off more than three million pounds; salted and pickled pork, two million pounds, and lard, nearly five million pounds. There was an increase, however, of two and a half million pounds in the exportation of fresh beef.

Jumping in his night clothes from the second story window of the St. Elizabeth Insane Asylum about midnight, Thomas Reed, a maniac, dashed by the guards, scaled the high stone wall around the grounds and made his escape.

The Secretary of the Treasury will approve the recommendation made by assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor that the old assay office in New York be torn down and a new building erected in its place. The front of the new structure containing the offices will be made to conform to the architecture of the sub-treasury which adjoins, while in the rear a taller building of brick will be put up for the machinery and assay work. Between the two buildings there will be a driveway which will not only afford light and air between space for a great gold vault which it is intended to construct two stories underground. The demand for vault space for the storage of gold is becoming pressing, that at the mints and sub-treasurys being already crowded. The continued issuance and use of gold certificates will eventually, in the opinion of Secretary Shaw, make the United States Treasury the depository of the gold of America.

Three Men Blow to Pieces.

Three men were blown to pieces, three others fatally injured and several others badly hurt by an explosion which early yesterday wrecked a shanty in the McLaughlin stone quarries at Bellwood, a short distance northwest of Chicago. There is evidence that the explosion was the result of a plot on the part of people who are at present unknown to the police, but a woman actuated by jealously is suspected.

The larger part of the body of one of the men killed was taken from a tree 100 feet from the place where the shanty had stood. Parts of the corpse were found lying all around the tree. All of the men killed were Greek and Italian laborers.

The officials of the McLaughlin Company denounced the blowing up of the shanty as deliberate murder, and said that in their opinion the crime had been actuated by a desire to rob the sleeping men. Several of them were known to have considerable money.

Louise Pappilo was said to have carried $1,000 in a belt which he wore around one leg.

Pappilo and his brother were killed, and when the bodies were found both had been completely stripped of clothing. This was not the case with any other man who was in the shanty at the time of the explosion, and, according to the officials of the McLaughlin Company, bears out their theory that robbery was the motive of the crime.

Her Suicide a Mystery.

A woman, 25 years old, who arrived from Covington, at midnight at Goshen and registered at the Allegheny House under the name of Minnie Jones, committed suicide Wednesday night. She was well dressed, and upon arrival at the hotel asked for the best room in the hotel. She was taken to her room, and stated to the porter that she was from the West. She was not called for breakfast. When the porter rapped on the door and received no answer he reported to the clerk, and they both went to the room and found the door unlocked. On the bed was an empty phial, with a few drops of laudanum, which told the story of the suicide.

Several railroad men say they knew the woman at Charleston, W. Va., as Helen Gilkeson and think she registered at the Allegheny under a false name. The body was taken to Bratton and interred.

On her was found 80 cents and several photographs of young men living in and about Clifton Forge. There is no clue to the motive of the suicide. The authorities of the Allegheny Hotel had succeeded in keeping the matter secret until the inquest.

The Drago Doctrine.

Representative John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader in the House of Representatives, yesterday declared himself in favor of an international declaration of the principle that pecuniary claims between nations are not collectible by the use of armed force. He proposes to urge the enunciation of this principle upon the Inter-Parliamentary Union, an organization of representatives of all the national legislative bodies, which this year will meet in London and address itself largely to the question of international arbitration. Mr. Williams sees in the present American policy of fiscal protectorate in Santo Domingo a great danger. He calls for a return to first principles that citizens who make investments in turbulent countries must do so at their own risk, without hope of the American government pulling their speculative chestnuts out of the fire.

Inasmuch as the same principle, under the name of the "Drago doctrine," will be urged upon the Pan-American Congress at Rio Janeiro by Argentina and several other Latin-American republics, Mr. Williams' purpose to inject it into the proceedings of the Inter-Parliamentary Union assumes considerable importance.

Capt. Mills Back to V. M. I.

The War Department has detailed Capt. M. M. Mills, of the artillery arm of the U. S. army, to be military instructor at the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va. The term of service is for three years. Captain Mills succeeds Major L. H. Strother, United States army, who has been assigned to active service, and who has filled the position of commandant of cadets for the last three years so acceptably and whose leaving causes much regret. Captain Mills is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute of the class of 1897 and was first captain during his graduating year. He was appointed an assistant professor and tactical officer the next session, and while serving in that capacity he received notification from the War Department that if he wanted an appointment as lieutenant in the army to report for examination, which he did, and has since that time been in service. He is from Big Stone Gap, Va., and during his four years at the Virginia Military Institute played a star game on the football eleven.

Major Strother is also a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and carried off the first Jackson-Hope medal given the year he was graduated.

Admitted the Killing.

Esther Mitchell, the 17-year-old girl who killed her brother, at Seattle, Washington, because he had slain the man charged with accomplishing her ruin, declares she has no regrets, and that her act was committed as the result of an agreement with the widow of the man killed by the brother. Immediately after the arrest of Esther Mitchell, orders were given for the arrest of Mrs. Maud Creffield, the widow of the "Holy Roller" prophet, whose death at the hands of George Mitchell led to Thursday night's tragedy. Mrs. Creffield, however, telephoned the police where she was to be found, and when taken to the station frankly admitted that she had entered into a compact with Esther to kill the slayer of her husband. She will be held as an accomplice.

Mrs. Carter's Marriage.

Boston July 14.—Mystery today surround the marriage of Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, and William L. Payne, manager of an Albany, N. Y. stock company, at Portsmouth, N. H., yesterday, owing to Mr. Payne's denial of the wedding, and alleged false details regarding Mrs. Carter's age and previous husband given in the marriage license. The couple were at the Touraine, last night, with the other members of the automobile party with whom the actress left New York, for a tour of New England, a short time ago. Every effort is being made to guard the details of the marriage, and answer is persistently refused to all questions by any of the Tourists. The party were assigned "suite 54," consisting of eight rooms. Three of the men and one woman of the Carter party left the Touraine at 4 a. m. today in one of the automobiles for New York. Orders were given that the remaining automobiles should be ready to leave at a moment's notice. A little after 10 oclock this morning Mrs. Carter and a maid slipped out of a side door at the Touraine and were whisked away in anautomobile. Mr. Payne is still at the hotel. He denied point blank the report of his marriage for several hours. He stated that he had known Mrs. Carter only a short time. When told that copies of the marriage license had been obtained he refused to talk further and walked away. With Mrs. Carter when she arrived at the Touraine were her son, Bradley Carter; Miss Norma Munro, Miss Deane, Messrs. Courtney Cowen, Acton Davies, W. L. Payne, and Mr. Devereaux.

Portland, Me., July 14.—Wm. L. Payne who married Mrs. Leslie Carter in New Hampshire, made formal application for a license here Thursday, giving the name of his affianced. Their identity was not disclosed. He said he is a New York city electrician, 33 years old, son of Alfred T. Payne, a New York contractor; that the bride is 30, a native of Lexington, Ky., daughter of the late Austin Dudley, of Lexington; that she has no occupation and this will be her first marriage. Under a misapprehension, that the Maine marriage license was applied to non-residents, as well as residents of the State, and that they would have to wait here five days before the ceremony could be performed, the party plans were changed and they toured back to Portsmouth, N. H., where the knot was tied.

The Thaw Case.

New York, July 14.—The nature of the defense that will be offered at the trial of Harry K. Thaw for the killing of Architect Stanford White, will be determined within a few days. Mrs. Mary Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw, arrived late this afternoon from Europe and will be taken at once to the Tombs, where her son is eagerly awaiting her today. Counsel for Thaw expect that Mrs. Thaw will have much influence in deciding the course to be pursued by the defense. Thaw has not always submitted to his counsel and has resolutely opposed the insanity plea. Mrs. Thaw will probably be asked to finally settle the question of whether a commission shall be asked for to determine the sanity of her son. Assistant District Attorney Garvan who has been securing the states evidence, has virtually completed his task, and leaves today for a short vacation. As stated yesterday, the prosecution is ready to try Harry Thaw today though the trial will not take place until October. Mr. Garvan and Mr. Jerome are certain in their belief that they have sufficient evidence to convict Harry Thaw of murder in the first degree.

Mrs. Harry Thaw, accompanied by Miss May McKenize, the actress and personal friend of the Thaws, called at the Tombs this morning. Mrs. Thaw tried to have Warden Flynn permit Miss McKenzie to accompany her to Mr. Thaw's cell, but the warden said he would not go behind the rules. Mrs. Thaw went up stairs and Miss McKenzie took a seat in the waiting room. After five minutes Mrs. Thaw came down again accompanied by E. R. Peabody, Joseph Hartridge, John B. Gleason and Rossie Peck, all lawyers who had been holding a conference with Thaw. Miss McKenzie then drove away in an electric cab with Mrs. Thaw.

Mont Blanc.

Geneva, Switzerland, July 14.—Geo. Calvert, of San Francisco today ascended Mont Blanc in the record time of nine hours and 50 minutes, which is considered an extraordinary feat of endurance. It ordinarily takes fourteen hours climbing and a night's rest half way, but Calvert left Chamounix, France, about forty miles east-southeast of Geneva, at four o'clock this morning, and reached the summit of Mont Blanc at 1:50 this afternoon. Calvert intends climbing Matterhorn, a famous mountain of the Alps, in an effort to establish a new record for the ascent of that mountain as well as Mont Blanc. Mont Blanc, or "White Mountains," is a celebrated mountain of the Alps of Savoy and of Piedmont, Italy, the highest in Europe, if the Caucasus is excluded. The elevation, as generally accepted is 15,782 feet. The limit of the snow line is between 8,000 and 9,000 feet above the sea. The summit, which is wholly in French territory, is shrouded in a vast prepetual snow field, from which descend numerous glaciers, the most famous of which is the Mer de Glaze (Sea ef Lee). Mount Blanc was first ascended by Paccard, accompanied by the guide Balmat, August 8, 1786. It has on the summit the observatory established by Janssen in 1893. The mountain is now ascended almost daily in the summer season.

M. Sarraut Improving.

Paris, July 14.—M. Sarraut, under secretary, who was wounded yesterday evening in a duel with Deputy Pugilesi-Conte which followed their encounter in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday afternoon growing out of the Dreyfus affair, passed a calm night, and it is not believed that his wound will result fatally. During the exciting debate in the chamber yesterday while the measures for the rehabilitation and promotion of Captain Dreyfus and Col. Picquart were before the House, Deputy Pugilesi Conte shouted toward the ministerial bench, "You are scoundrels for permitting insults to officers." In a moment M. Sarraut was beside the deputy and struck him in the face. The duel was arraigned immediately after the sitting adjourned. Sarraut received a wound in the right breast, the sword penetrating the lung. It is not believed that the wound is necessarily fatal.

The Hartje Divorce Case.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 14.—More evidence of a sensational nature will be introduced by counsel for Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje early next week, at the conclusion of the testimony of the testimony as the handwriting experts for her ride, who declared that love letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Hartje to the coachman, co-respondent "Tom" Madine, are not in her handwriting. The confession of Clifford Hooe, the farmer negro coachman of the Hartjes who was also named by Augustus Hartje, the millionaire libellant, as a co-respondent, in the case, will be used at the hearing on a conspiracy charge late this afternoon, of John Welshon, Hartje and Hooe before Alderman M. King.

Attorney John Marron, for Mr. Hartje, made the open charge this morning that B. F. McElroy, alias Johnson, alias Larsoh, is a detective employed by the Perkins agency which has been doing work for Mrs. Hartje to fight the divorce case instituted by her husband. But Superintendent Perkins denied in unqualified terms today that McElroy, who took alleged forged letters of Madine to Mr. Marron, was ever employed by him.

Mrs. Hartje's counsel are preparing to contest the next move of counsel for the libellant, in their attempt to introduce new evidence by handwriting experts, who have not testified thus far, a number of whom are working this afternoon on the letters. Representatives of both sides of the famous suit, declare today that they are confident of winning.

Among the witnesses to be introduced by the libellant's counsel, is a former friend of Madines it is said, who will tell how he won the confidence of the coachman, co-respondent and finally secured the love letters. This man is a coachman, also. The theory that the letters were secured when Madine's trunk was broken open, therefore may not be used.

Vegetarian Lump of Coal.

Tamaqua, Pa., July 14.—The theory that coal is nothing more than vegetable matter which in the ages gone by was subjected to a great heat and became petrified was practically proven yesterday by Thomas Stapleton, a veteran miner, and a recognized authority on all matters pertaining to coal and mining. Stapleton paid a visit to the Greenwood mine, where the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company is fighting a fire that has been raging since 1857. In a section where it is estimated the fire had burned for fully 30 years Stapleton found a piece of what had at one time been wood but which had, by reason of the intense heat and the gases arising therefrom turned into coal. A portion of the wood resembles charcoal, but the other portion had become metamorphoesed into brittle shining anthracite. Stapleton has the specimen in his possession, and it is attracting much attention.

The Hargis Murder Case.

Beattyville, Ky., July 14.—One hour was taken this morning by Judge Bach, for the defense, and Attorney Byrd, for the Commonwealth, in arguing the instructions of the court in the Hargis case. Judge Bach contended that since Hargis and Callahan were not present at the time of the killing of Marcum, they could not be convicted as accessories. Byrd contended that the allegation of accessory and aider and abettor could be included in the same indictment to committ murder. The defense proceeded to examine witnesses.

Blood Poisoned by His Beard.

Altoona, Pa., July 14.—Harry Curry, aged 15, a Pennsylvania Railroad messenger boy, was treated by a doctor yesterday for blood poisoning resulting from a peculiar cause. The janitor of one of the railroad office buildings, who is noted for his heavy beard, seized the lad Thursday night and playfully rubbed his whiskers over Curry's tender cheek. The hair was so sharp it scraped away the outer layer of skin, and overnight the abrasion became inflamed and inflected.

A Family Run Down.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 14.—Elijah Norris and his family, consisting of Mrs. Norris and their five children, were run down by a freight train late last night, while crossing a bridge on the Monongahalea division of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. Mr. Norris and his four-year old daughter were killed instantly, both being badly cut. His wife was also crushed and several ribs were broken. Clara, aged 10, sustained contusions of the head; Clifford, aged 8, had the right leg broken, and George, aged 5, was badly bruised. Leonard Norris, aged 2 years, fell between the cross ties and escaped injury.

The French Lick Case.

Paoli, Ind., July 14.—Arguments on the demurrers in the French Lick and West Baden cases were resumed this morning. Attorney General Miller concluded his argument, and John W. Kern will make the closing argument for the defense. The impression here is that Judge Buskirk will sustain the demurrers and that the hotel companies will thereby retain their charters.

Attorney General Miller in his argument, said that gambling must stop. He does not care what the ruling of the court may be, on the demurrers, and served notice that for at least two years from next January the law will be respected all over Indiana. The argument of Kern will probably occupy the entire time today. The State has a lot of witnesses ready to testify if the court does not sustain the demurrers.

Father of Waters for Manchester.

Vicksburg, Miss., July 14.—The young Duke of Manchester is to be christened with water taken from the Mississippi river, just below this city, where the great Father of Waters flows along. The water is to be used at the christening in London. It was shipped last week in a sealed jug by the Southern Express Company. The water was ordered by telegraph, and required to be duly sealed and sworn to as the genuine article by a Justice of the Peace.

New York Stock Market.

New York, July 14.—The sharp rally which started just before the close yesterday was followed during the first hour by good buying all around the room, and prices, after opening with fair gains, made general advances. The room attributed part of this show of strength to the news of the early departure of J. P. Morgan from London for New York, but brokers watching the trading said that the rally was natural, in view of the oversold condition of the market.

The trial of twenty-one lynchers, prominent farmers and business men, will begin Monday at Monroe, Union county, N. C., for the lynching of a white man named Johnson for killing his brother-in-law, a few months ago.

A Heinous Crime.

Charlotte, N. C., July 14.—The most heinous crime in the annals of the State was perpetrated by burglars at the home of Isaac Lyerly, a prominent planter and merchant, living in Rowan county near Barbers Junction. Two daughters sleeping in an upper room, being awakened by the odor of smoke, rushed down stairs and were stricken speechless by the sight that met their eyes. On a bed lay the corpses of their parents, and scattered about on the floor were the bodies of two little girls and a boy all cold in death, with cruel marks on their heads and bodies where they had been beaten to death. The bed on which Lyerly and his wife lay was a mass of flames. The fire was extinguished, and the bodies on the floor examined, but all were dead having been killed supposedly thirty minutes before. It is believed that the crime was the work of two negroes, one of whom was working for Lyerly up to a few days ago, and is alleged to have said "Lyerly may cut his wheat, but he will never live to eat the bread." The sheriff of the county was informed and came to the scene on a special train, with bloodhounds and a posse started in pursuit. Lyerly was known to have money in the house, and robbery is believed to have been the motive for the crime, the burglars probably killing the family on account of some member giving the alarm. It is scarcely doubted but that speedy death will be dealt the perpetrators if found.

Patrolman Killed.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 14.—Patrolman Doley was killed this morning while "pulling" a patrol box. Cross wires is believed to have caused the accident. Ten other boxes in that district were similarly affected and ten patrolmen suffered from severe shocks.

The wires burned out the instruments in the telephone exchange in the office of the Parry Manufacturing Company starting a fire that threatened to spread. Night watchmen and other employes sounded an alarm and then attacked the flames extinguishing the blaze.

Street Lighting.

The several bids for furnishing electricity for use in the city as read in Council on Tuesday night are of more importance than may be supposed. In the matter of street lighting for incandescent lights the following bids are made: By H. H. Mandeville for 25 candle power $16.50 per year, for 32 power $19 50; by C. H. B. Chapin, 25 power $17 50, 32 power $21 25; by D. J. Howell & Co. 25 power $20, 32 power $25. It is not claimed that the gas street lamps are as much as 17 candle power, yet in the report of the committee on light for the year ending May 31, 1905, published on page 31 city reports, it is stated that thirty-eight all night lamps consumed 1,041,200 feet of gas charged at $1.20 per 1,000 feet, amounting to $1,353 56 or about $36 per lamp. In the report of the operation of the City Gas Works, year ending May 31, 1906, published in the Gazette Friday, June 29, 1906, these same thirty-eight lamps consumed 2,264,800 feet of gas; more than twice, or 1,223,600 feet in excess of 1905, and charged at $1 20 per thousand feet is $2,944 24, or $1,690.68 in excess of the prior year, and an average of $77 per lamp. If the actual cost to the city for this 2,264,800 feet of gas was only forty cents per thousand, the cost would be $905.92, almost $24 per lamp. Contrast this with the Mandeville bid—thirty-eight 25 candle power at $16.50 per lamp, or $627 for the thirty-eight lamps. Mr Mandeville offers a 2 000 candle power arc light for $75 per year "to burn every night and all night, and to make a rebate for any and all nights that a light shall be out more than an hour." The gas works in its latest report gets a credit of $77 per lamp for a 15 candle power flame. Indeed this is not all, for Mr. Mandeville says: "I will also furnish the lamps and all renewals of the same for incandescent street light free of charge." When gas lamps are repaired the city pays. It is not assumed that the Mandeville bid is the lowest; the joint committee will decide which is the best from the several.

Charge Nolle Prossed.

A charge of housebreaking against Bernard B. Kelly, an employe of the Southern Railway at this city, who was arrested last month in Washington by Detectives Hartigan and Baur, was nolle prossed by the United States attorney yesterday. A report of the larceny of a large number of passes of the Southern Railway was made to police headquarters, and Detectives Hartigan and Baur, working on the case, arrested Lynden G. Stonebraker on the charge. When questioned he maintained that Kelly had taken the passes and given them to him to dispose of. That led to the arrest of Kelly. The latter denied the charge and his story was investigated by the detectives and found to be true. When it was determined that Kelly had no part in the larceny the request to have the case nolle prossed as to him was made.

Accused Dismissed.

A colored boy named Albert Whiting, living on Gibbon street, shot Leslie Frazier, of 622 south Washington street late yesterday. The bullet went in the upper part of the right arm, inflicting a painful wound, which was dressed at the Alexandria Hospital. Whiting was arraigned before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning when it appeared that the injury to Frazier was accidentally inflicted with a catrifle. The accused was dismissed.

The Electric Franchise.

Heroic Act.

News has been received from Eaglesmere, Pa., giving the details of a heroic act performed two days ago by Mr. Charles Minnigerode, of Roland Park, who, with his family, is spending the summer at the Pennsylvania resort. Mr. Minnigerode was standing on the end of the pier when he saw a man struggling in the water. A dozen or more persons in bathing suits were near at hand, but none of them went to the relief of the stranger. Quickness was necessary, and Mr. Minnigerode did not have time to remove his clothing. He discarded his hat only and plunged in. Then he made for the distressed swimmer, whose strength was exhausted. He was a heavy man, but with a supreme effort Mr. Minnigerode bore him ashore amid the plaudits of the spectators. The only damage was to Mr. Minnigerode's Sunday coat, which unfortunately the owner was wearing at the time. Up to the present Mr. Hunt Thom appears to have held the belt among the Roland Park contingent for rescuing drowning people, but he may now have to divide honors with Mr. Minnigerode. Mr. Thom's generosity is equaled by his kind y nature, and it is not probable that he will wish to deprive his neighbor of what's coming to him.—Baltimore News.

Fight With Oystermen.

Admiral Lee, of the Virginia oyster navy, went to Hampton yesterday and reported an exciting encounter with Maryland oyster pirates in the Potomac river Wednesday.

When the three vessels of the oyster navy entered the Potomac they found the river alive with oyster pirates. The Virginians fired upon the pirates and after an exciting chase four men surrendered. The pirates were from Maryland.

According to Admiral Lee the pirates have heaped a big harvest in the Potomac. He will keep the navy in the river several weeks and many more arrests are expected. As the four men under arrest are from Maryland complications over the oyster boundaries may rise again.

When the big cannon of the new ship in Admiral Lee's navy was fired the ball struck a small gasoline launch, but all the crew escaped. Three launches were captured and are in the possession of the Virginia navy.

Drowning Accident.

One of the prettiest young girls of Richmond and one of the city's most promising young men were drowned while on a launch party down the James river Thursday night. Miss Rosa Satterfield and John Gordon were the victims.

The naptha launch Charlotte carried a merry party down the river, consisting of Miss Rosa Satterfield, her mother, Mrs. Calvin Satterfield, as chaperone; Miss May Serpelle, of Louisville; Miss Edna Wright, of New Jersey, and Miss Annis Clarke, all the guests at a house party of Miss Satterfield.

The young men, besides young Gordon, were Cabell Fitzgerald, John Hobson, of Powhatan; Herbert Whitehurst and Nelson Robins, the latter being host of the occasion, having arranged the trip in honor of Miss Satterfield and her guests Miss Satterfield, Miss Annis Clarke and Mr. Gordon had perched themselves on the canopy deck of the launch, and were chatting merrily when the steamer Pocahontas, carrying a large picnic party, passed. The launch was steered close to shore to avoid the waves, but, owing to the top-heaviness of the launch, it swung violently in the heavy surge made by the paddle wheels, and Miss Satterfield, Miss Clarke and Mr. Gordon were thrown into the water.

Miss Clarke was saved by grasping a pillow thrown to her, and was hauled aboard with difficulty. Miss Satterfield and Mr. Gordon were not seen again, either having been stunned by the shock or completely overcome by the heavy waves. Although for two hours the launch cruised over the spot, no trace of them could be found. Mrs. Satterfield was an eye witness of the drowning of her daughter, and the entire party were overcome with the horror and distress of the sudden tragedy.

Calvin Satterfield was recently attracted to Philadelphia by the offer of an important position there, and intended soon to carry his family to that city. Mrs. Satterfield is the daughter of the late Gen. Lindsay Walker, and sister of Superintendent C. C. Walker, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway. Miss Rosa Satterfield was 19. She recently graduated with high honors at Hollins institute.

Young Gordon, known to all his friends as Jack, was a favorite. The bodies have not been recovered.

Murderers Hanged.

Three negroes were hanged in Virginia yesterday for murder. Andrew J. Davenport, who murdered Willie Thomas January 29, 1906, paid the penalty in the city jail at Newport News, while Thomas Jones and Chas. Woodruff were executed on the same scaffold at Independence, Grayson county, for killing the father of Thomas Jones.

The hanging at Newport News occurred at sunrise. Although Davenport dropped a distance of eight feet, his neck was not broken and he died from strangulation, it being 14 minutes after the drop of the trap before life was extinct. The murderer exhibited marvelous nerve. He walked upon the scaffold with a firm tread, and after prayer had been offered by several preachers he calmly took his position on the trap. Not a muscle of his body trembled while the handcuffs and straps were being put on his hands and feet and the hangman's noose was being placed around his neck. The hanging was witnessed by about 400 people, a number of women and children seeing it from adjacent houses. The murderer left a confession of his crime.

Jones and Woodruff were hanged later in the day. When Sheriff Phillips read the death warrants in their cells separately at 11 o'clock both men said they would make a statement on the gallows. Jones said he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. Charles Woodruff said he was present, but did not fire the shot, his pistol being at his own home, that he had nothing against Wiley Jones, the murdered man, and declared he was on the way to heaven. The shooting of Wiley Jones occurred because he remonstrated with the two men for creating a noise in the house, where there was a sick child. The drop was 5 feet 4 inches and both men died in a few minutes. Their bodies were shipped to the medical department of the University of Virginia.
